

The leaves fall and grow anew,
Flowers bloom and turn to fruits,
The sun rises and sets,
The tides fluctuate with the moon,
Which appears full and also in fractions,
Even the stars die and are born again,
And people never really remain the same,
However some things don't change, like
GOD,
And like how I only keep loving you more and more,
So as the earth spins, as the universe expands to its own extinction,
And as we live and die and move on to the beyond,
My love for you keeps on being,
Never in doubt, now and forever.